Editorial

“Rei-ki” means “Universal energy”. Reiki healers heal with the energy emitted from their hands (without touching the body)-they hold their hands an inch or two over the place of the body, where the pain is, and the pain stops. They claim they don't use their energy to heal; they channel Universal energy to the patients. I measured the energy of the Reiki healers and their patients before and after Reiki treatment and I found that after Reiki treatment indeed the energy of both – the patient and the Reiki healer were higher. I did the measurements with my patented supersensitive energy meter, which I developed to measure the weak field of the human aura, which is 1,000 times weaker than the field created by the bio currents of the material body.

I published my measurements proving that indeed Reiki healers don't use their energy to heal in my article [1]. However, I didn't go further to explain what kind of energy they use. In the present article, I am going to reveal what kind of energy is the Universal energy, which the Reiki healers use for healing. I came to the understanding what this Universal energy is with my studies of the aura for more than 40 years. I started with photographing the aura and I found that the aura is emotionally sensitive-it shines brighter at positive emotions and it is dimmer at negative emotions. To be able to measure the weak field of the human aura, I developed and patented my supersensitive equipment.

I found with my measurements that at positive emotions (or just positive thinking), the aura energy is not only higher-it is better balanced. Since perfect balance means perfect health, positive emotions (or just positive thinking) make us healthier [2]. I found that at negative emotions (or just negative thinking) the aura energy is not only lower; it is more imbalanced because the genetically inherited weak organ drops in energy maximum. This means that negative emotions (or just negative thinking) with time will lead to a disease of the genetically inherited weak organ. The Russian scientist Shkatov developed equipment, which allows him to measure the spinning of the aura. He found that positive emotions make the aura to spin clockwise, while negative emotions make the aura to spin counterclockwise [3].

I found with my measurements that the weak field of the aura rules and regulates everything in the body, not with its strength, but with the information it carries, which means that the aura is weak informational NEMF (Nonlinear Electromagnetic Field). Nonlinear physics teaches that vortices spin clockwise and suck energy, while anti-vortices spin counterclockwise and emit energy. This explained everything: positive emotions make the aura spin clockwise and suck energy (which makes the aura brighter), while negative emotions make the aura spin counterclockwise and loose energy (which makes the aura dimmer). However, for this to happen a reservoir of NEMF energy must be available, from which our aura NEMF sucks NEMF energy at positive emotions, and release NEMF energy at negative emotions [5].

Is this reservoir of NEMF energy the primary Space Matrix from which the Universe was created? [6]. Nonlinear Physics Teaches That Nonlinear Fields (NEMFs) do not dissipate and can imprint information. Therefore, NEMF is the perfect material to create a Universe. The Creator first created a sphere of not dissipating NEMF as a Space Matrix and then imprinted on it the information of what he wanted to create and the Universe was created [5]. What this has to do with the Reiki healing? It seems that the Reiki healers' statement that they use Universal energy to heal means that they use for healing the NEMF energy of the Space Matrix from which the Universe was created. Thus, the Universal Energy, which Reiki healer's use, is the NEMF energy from which the Universe was created.

Our medical doctors consider Neurasthenia to be neurological disorder. But the fact that neurasthenics blow bulbs and make computers and other machines to dysfunction, speaks of very strong fluctuating field (this is the strong fluctuating NEMF of their aura) [6]. Since the aura is emotional-at positive emotions it spins clockwise and sucks NEMF energy and at negative emotions it spins counterclockwise and releases NEMF energy to the Space Matrix, probably very strong emotions have damaged the switch of the aura spinning. This resulted in a very strong fluctuating NEMF of their aura, which blows bulbs and makes computer and other machines to dysfunction.

I had a friend Mary Lou diagnosed with Neurasthenia. Since years ago, I already had a colleague Lilia diagnosed with neurasthenia, whose strong fluctuating field I measured, and since I have already measured Reiki healers, I advised Mary Lou to take the necessary Reiki courses and start practicing Reiki healing. She did and her Neurasthenia symptoms disappeared after a few years of practicing Reiki healing because through practicing Reiki she learned to control the switching of her NEMF, which transformed her strong fluctuating aura NEMF into a tamed aura NEMF. This is another proof that Reiki healers use the Universal NEMF energy to heal.
